

7D + Vmax

Beneath the surface (epidermis), your skin is made up of three important layers: the superficial dermis, the deep dermis, and the SMAS layer, the "infrastructural" layer that connects the skin to the underlying muscular structure. As we age, the building blocks of supple, youthful skin (collagen, elastin fibers, and a gel-like substance called an extra lens matrix) lose strength and elasticity, and the SMAS layer loses its ability to support the skin. The result is loose, sagging and wrinkled skin. 7D HIFU treatment addresses skin laxity on all three levels.
